MCX now 6th largest bourse globally

MUMBAI: A near-196% growth in energy trade volume helped India's largest exchange Multi Commodity Exchange of India move up by a notch to the sixth slot among global commodity exchanges in 2015, according to data compiled by FIA. MCX, which accounted for over 84% of the India's commodity derivatives market share in 2015, traded 216.3 mln lots in 2015, up 61.7% from 133.8 mln lots a year ago, said FIA, the leading global derivatives trade organisation. Moscow Exchange was the only bourse, which grew higher than the MCX at 515.5% on year to 123.1 mln lots. However, the growth came on a very small base of 20 mln contracts, FIA data showed.
